DOMAINE MABY LA FORCADIÈRE TAVEL ROSÉ 2025

AOP, Rhône, France
701318 (XD) 750 ml $24.95 🍷

A beautiful dark fuschia colour in the glass immediately draws you in. The aromas are clearly fruit-driven but avoid tipping into anything overly confected, instead showing lively cranberry and cherry fruit with an appealing touch of spice. The palate has impressive texture and concentration for a rosé, with that bright red berry fruit spreading generously across the tongue ... A fine example of Tavel rosé. Drinking window: 2026-2028. Score: 92 (Natalie Earl, decanter.com, March 8, 2026)

Easygoing & Fruity

TAPI MARLBOROUGH SAUVIGNON BLANC 2025

Marlborough, South Island, New Zealand
51116 (XD) 750 ml $21.95 🍷

Intense aromas of passionfruit, red grapefruit, lime and white peach are pure and pristine. Plenty of concentration and intensity. Succulent, salivating acidity gives a crisp, focused line to the palate. Long and well defined. Drink date: 2025-2028. Score: 95 (Jane Skilton, MW, therealreview.com, Oct. 13, 2025)

CELLAR COLLECTION:
MONTHLY FEATURE

JULY CELLAR COLLECTION

The southern hemisphere makes a strong showing in this collection, with Argentina's Cheval des Andes, Australia's The Standish Shiraz and South Africa's Miles Mossop Max all flirting with perfect scores. Europe provides some star power with Bordeaux's Château Figeac 2010 and impresses with a pair of monovarietal red wines from Rioja. And from Tuscany, a Gran Selezione Chianti Classico from Castello di Querceto got a perfect three glasses from Gambero Rosso.

NOTHING BUT CHARDONNAY

For years now, a cheeky little “anything but Chardonnay” trend has given wine lovers an excuse to cosplay as anti-Chard while declaring their love for less mainstream white wines. It’s all good fun, but these side trysts don’t change the fact that Chardonnay remains by far the single most popular white wine in the world. So be honest with yourself, come back into the light, and embrace the pleasure that is Chardonnay.

CHARDONNAY STYLE

More than any other wine variety, Chardonnay is famous for its stylistic versatility. Depending on the choices made in the vineyard and winery, it can produce wines ranging from exquisitely light and crisp to remarkably rich and robust. (To say nothing of the sweet and sparkling wines it produces, but that's a story for another day.) Climate is the baseline factor in shaping a Chardonnay's ultimate style, but it's not everything. Cool climates tend to produce light, crisp wines while warm climates tend to produce fuller, richer ones. Winemakers can lean into these tendencies, but when they don't, there are plenty of tricks and techniques at their disposal.

SMALL WONDER LANDSCAPE
CHARDONNAY 2024

Tamar Valley, Tasmania

From the cool-climate island of Tasmania, this wine is exquisite and elegantly fragrant, with nuances of nectarine, lemon peel and nougat. Superbly structured by beautifully pitched acidity. Long, refined finish.

If you think Chardonnay is predictable, this release might surprise you. It's one grape with endless expressions shaped by where it's grown and how it's made. This lineup offers a journey across styles, from the crisp, citrus-driven edge of William Fèvre Champs Royaux Chablis to the expressive, textured layers of Ontario's Stratus Chardonnay to the sun-ripened richness of Felino from Mendoza. Chardonnay is easy to pair with food, easy to enjoy, and offers something a little different in every glass.”

Rosewood is a beloved family-run local winery certified by Sustainable Winegrowing Ontario in both vineyard and winery. But before the wine, there were the bees.

"This is going to be our [family's] 94th commercial year of beekeeping," says general manager William Roman. "I'm a third-generation beekeeper, and I've been doing that since I've been a very, very little kid, with my grandmother and my father."

Beekeeping duties are mostly handled by William's parents, Eugene and Renata Roman, who began Rosewood Winery in 2000. William helps out as needed, but the impact of the bees goes beyond the honey products for sale at the winery.

Bees are highly sensitive, and keeping them healthy means reacting very quickly and decisively; traits that can only benefit winemakers in a region where no two vintages are alike. It also means taking extra care in the vineyard. "The bees will die if we spray something like a neonicotinoid [insecticide] on the plants, so we just don't do that," says William. Instead of spraying herbicides, the team does manual weed control. Pheromone disruptors and traps assist with pest management. These practices aid not only the Rosewood bees, but native wild pollinators as well.

In return, the bees help out with fruit set (the process of a flower forming a berry) in the vineyard. "All of our neighbouring vineyards really like the fact that we house 2-5 million bees," says William. "We want to foster as much natural pollination services for everybody as we can, because it's going to help our entire ecosystem."

ROSEWOOD RIESLING AF 2023

VQA Twenty Mile Bench, Niagara Escarpment, Ontario, unfinned

"'AF' stands for arrested fermentation [among other things]. It's a fun, light-hearted, juicy, aromatic, thirst-quenching wine that is, at the same time, very serious, because it's super well-balanced and incredibly textured. I personally love drinking it with a variety of things, but one of my favourite pairings has to be pad Thai and East Indian curries. Something that has a little bit of heat to it. Or you go the other direction; fresh summer salads with goat cheese." (William Roman)

ROSEWOOD NIGHT MOVES 2022

VQA Niagara Peninsula, Ontario, unfinned and unfiltered

"We treat Night Moves like our Beaujolais-Villages level. It's meant to be an all-encompassing, easy-drinking wine that still has that good structure to work with a variety of foods and that backbone to it and that good acidity. The 2022 is fairly ripe, so I love drinking this with duck. It's also great with burgers or anything off the grill because of its slightly smoky quality, white pepper, beautiful bramble and fruit." RHEINHESSEN

WITTMANN 100 HILLS
DRY RIESLING 2024

NEW

Rheinhessen
The forthright citrus and yellow apple aromas pull you into this juicy, barely medium-bodied dry riesling, the touch of melted butter character helping to round out the finish. Already very appealing in spite of its extreme youth. From organically grown grapes. Drink now. Score: 90 (jamessuckling.com, March 19, 2025)

PIGHIN PINOT GRIGIO 2025
DOC Friuli Grave

A bright, fresh, fruity wine, with well-defined ripe apple, pear, melon, tropical banana and citrus notes alongside a honeyed character and lifted florals. Very pretty. Quite luscious and surprisingly weighty, with zippy acidity that makes it a wonderful sipper and also fabulously versatile with food. Pair with fish, minestrone soup, or a veggie risotto.

STANDOUT SELECTIONS

One of the great things about wine is its versatility. Here in Ontario, where the climate is broadly cool, we produce a surprisingly dynamic range of styles. Hinterbrook makes a robust red from the temperate shores of Lake Ontario; Oxley crafts a ripe, elegant Pinot from the upper reaches of Lake Erie; and Magnotta creates a lively, aromatic white blend from vineyards across Niagara.

STYLE SPOTLIGHT

If you ask wine writers around the globe to name a white wine Ontario has mastered, they're bound to say Riesling. The variety is perfectly suited to our cool climate, and its knack for conveying minerality makes for remarkably expressive wines. These three examples showcase the complexity and character for which Ontario Riesling has become famous.

Natural beauty

KOYLE ROYALE LOS LINGUES SINGLE VINEYARD CABNET SAUVIGNON 2021

DO Valle de Colchagua, Chile

The family who run Viña Koyle are continuing a viticultural tradition that began in 1885. But that doesn't mean they're stuck in their ways. In 2009, they began a journey into biodynamic agriculture in order to maximize terroir expression. This generously fruity, herbal wine is full of a sense of place.
